Looking for Volunteers

The new Williston Basin International Airport needs you to make sure the facility is ready for the traveling public. There are several ways you can help, be the first to see the facility and be part of the future of the area. There are a variety of volunteer options this summer and fall at the new airport including emergency training, accessibility testing and general operations alignment. It takes a fresh set of eyes to ensure signs are properly placed and easy to understand. All ages and abilities are needed. This is an opportunity to "be the first" to experience the airport and get a behind the scenes look at what it takes for a new airport to be operational. Get your name on the volunteer list today!

200 Days!

In 200 days, on October 10, 2019, operations will commence at the Williston Basin International Airport (XWA). The terminal is now 55% complete and as the spring thaw takes place the Terminal's exterior finishes are being installed. The pace of work and number of people on site each day has greatly increased to over 100 workers in and around the terminal. The various paving projects will be commencing soon, which will more than triple the onsite workforce. In addition to the increased workforce, excavation equipment and truck traffic will also increase, which will require added vigilance as personnel move around the project. Safety and awareness are critical as projects ramp up this spring. Projects in bold and underlined at left are work in progress. The list will be updated in future newsletters as other projects start back up in the coming months.

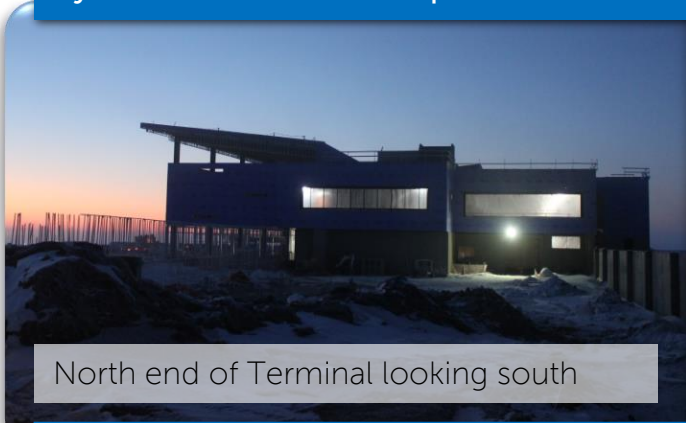

Rumor has it... County Road 7 will be paved.

True!

County Road 7 (also known as 140th Ave NW at the SR 85 intersection) will be paved in the coming months from SR85 up to the new terminal loop road and then north about half a mile to the FBO entrance road.

Airport Operational Readiness (AOR)

AOR projects focus not only on the construction of your new airport, but also on the technology, processes, and people inside. It is the responsibility of Chrysalis Global Aviation to ensure the systems, processes, people, and assets are organized and fully prepared for the move of operations to the new airport. www.chrysalisglobal.com
